VOL. XIX, NO. (2)

CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1918.

TWO CENTS

15,000 SELECTIVES FROM THE STATE FIRST WEEK IN SEPTEMBER

Will Be Sent to Five Different Camps for Training

GREATER NUMBER TO THE SOUTH

The number of men to go to training camps from Pennsylvania the first week in September was increased approximately on Thursday to 15,000, when the war department forwarded to state draft headquarters at Harrisburg a call for 2,500 men qualified for general military service to go to Camp Forrest, Lytle, Ga., during a period beginning September 4. Camp Forrest is near Oglethorpe, Ga., and is being used at present for an engineers' training camp.

The largest call heretofore issued has been for approximately 12,000 men, but following the enactment of new draft laws single calls for 25,000 men are expected.

Local selective boards in the county have received notice of five calls for men the first week in September. They are:

Camp Sherman, September 1, 749 colored men. It is explained that this call is expected to exhaust the 1917 class of colored men qualified for general military service.

Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., September 3-6, 3,206 white selectives.

Camp Sherman, September 3-6, 500 white men of Group C for special or limited military service.

Camp Meade, Md., September 3-6, 1500 men qualified for general military service.

Camp Greenleaf, Ga., 8,000 white men qualified for general military service.

The quotas given in the calls are for the state. The district quotas and enlistment orders will be received within a few days, when the local selective boards will announce the names of those who will be called for service. It is expected the quota from the Fifth district, of which Charleroi is a part, will be quite heavy, owing to the fact that the last contingent announced was quite small in numbers.

CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

Acting Health Commissioner Royer has given notice that the state law in regard to vaccination of pupils in the schools of the state will be enforced this year and as a result school children as well as teachers who have not been vaccinated within a stated period are expected to have it done by the time school opens, which will be either the 2nd or the 9th of September. Failure to have the vaccination done according to the provisions of the school law means that children may not be admitted to school until vaccinated.

TOMORROW IS REGISTRATION DAY

All young men who have come of age since the 5th of last June, are required to register for selective service on Saturday, August 24. Young men in the Fifth District will register at Donora, room 205 post office building, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. Those interested are directed to take notice.

BIG CHANGES AT STEEL MILL

Officials At Donora Plant Are Moved To Other Cities

IS A PROMOTION FOR ALL

One of the largest shifts in years in the officials of the Donora plant of the American Steel and Wire Company has gone into effect, as David Stinson, formerly of the Allentown Mill, has taken charge of the accounting department, in place of C. M. Diehl, who came to Donora from the Farrell plant about a year ago, and who now goes to take charge of the accounting department of the plant at Waukegan, Ill.

J. B. McClure, who has been in the accounting department of the Donora mill for the past 16 years, the last 10 years as assistant to the chief clerk, is transferred to Allentown to take the position formerly held by Mr. Stinson, and F. C. Peterson, storekeeper at the local mill, is advanced to the position left vacant by the promotion of Mr. McClure.

The transfer of Mr. Diehl to Waukegan unites two friends of long standing, as W. E. Acorn who is superintendent at the Waukegan plant, started in the employ of the corporation with Mr. Diehl at the Rankin plant about 20 years ago. Mr. Acorn was formerly superintendent of the Donora mill.

ST. JEROME KNITTERS FINISH MANY ARTICLES

St. Jerome's Red Cross Knitting Auxiliary met Thursday evening with Mrs. Mary Ryland at the Hotel Wellington, the membership being well represented. The following finished articles were turned in:—Nineteen pairs of socks and eight sweaters. It is important that as much finished work as possible be turned in by September 1st. The meeting next Thursday evening will be held in the same place.

Spirit of American Soldier Is Splendid

Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, pastor of the Smithfield Street M. E. church, of Pittsburgh returned to Pittsburgh on Wednesday after having spent five months at the front, among the very thickest of the fighting, doing Y. M. C. A. work. Less than two weeks ago Dr. Marsh was on the Chateau-Thierry front with the One Hundred and Tenth Infantry, the old "Fighting Tenth." He says that because of the new spirit and ideals the Americans have put in the fighting the Allies are sure of victory. The Americans, by their vim, energy, dash and go, have made the European war an entirely different proposition from what it was formerly.

"The day that America entered the war, that day Germany was defeated," said Dr. Marsh at his home Wednesday night. "There is no use denying that until that time Germany was victorious and terribly near to beating civilization. The American boys have astonished Europe, the spirit of America has enlivened the Allies with an extremely moral and upright."

Notice To Retailers On August Sugar Allotment

Although the majority of the retailers when called upon to furnish data for the sugar survey as of August 3, responded promptly, many were a week or ten days late and some responded not at all. From data received, the county has over 3 lb. to each inhabitant, which should last until September 15 on the ration of 2 lb. per person per month.

Owing to this condition there will be no August allotment issued. All rationing certificates will be redeemed thus replacing stocks sold for that purpose.

BORO BUILDING MAY BE DELAYED

Certain work on the new borough building is in danger of being delayed, not because of any fault of the contractor, but because of some special work which may be hard to obtain. This refers particularly to the stairs to be placed in the building, as well as the cells to be placed in the lockup. Contractors are ready to make these essential features, but it will be necessary to get a government permit before work can be started on them. If the government should refuse to grant the permit, of course it would be impossible for the manufacturers of these articles to do anything with them, and they would be compelled to wait until such time as the war ended or the government would grant a permit. It is possible of course that the necessary permission may be given, in which case work on the building would be pushed as rapidly as possible. As it is the contractors are making excellent headway with all of the interior work, and if not held up from causes beyond their control should be able to turn over the building to the borough this coming fall.

NAME ADJUTANT FOR HOME DEFENSE POLICE

The Pennsylvania Council of National Defense and Committee of Public Safety, Washington, County branch has announced the appointment of Smith N. Whitworth, Esq., of Washington County Pennsylvania as Adjutant of the Washington County regiment of the Home Defense Police, with the rank of Captain.

The rapid growth of the Home Defense Police in Washington County makes this appointment necessary. From a small beginning this regiment has grown to be one of the largest in the Commonwealth and is still enlisting members.

Shotguns in the hands of American soldiers are proving a terror to Germans. The Hun protest that such firearms are unfair. However, the Boche have a lot of nerve to protest against anything or any methods used in warfare.

Miss Bertha Anthony has returned from the hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Her condition is very favorable.

MAY SET NEW RECORD THIS WEEK FOR FUEL PRODUCTION

CHARLEROI GIRL WINS AT WATER CARNIVAL

At the Firemen's Water Carnival held in Monongahela, Thursday evening, Miss Jeannette Rosenbloom, of Charleroi won the 35-yard swimming race for ladies, as well as the prize for endurance, remaining in the water longer than any of her competitors. The contests were all closely contested and the event drew a number of participants as well as spectators.

NO ELECTION FOR MAJOR

Officers Request that County Officials Be Settled On First

SPLENDID FEELING PREVAILS

W. D. Pollock, Thomas Warrensford and Carl M. Wertz, together with Roland Brown, all officers of the Charleroi Home Defense Police, were in Donora Thursday evening for the purpose of electing a Major for the battalion composed of the Companies located in California, Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela. There were eighteen officers present when James P. Casner, who acted as chairman of the meeting, called to order, with B. L. Ross, of Monongahela, acting as secretary.

Considerable discussion ensued over conditions as they exist at present in the Home defense organization of the Public Safety Committee of the county, particularly with reference to the office of Superintendent. As there appears to be some differences between the state authorities and the county committee over this appointment the meeting finally decided to postpone the election until such time as the office is filled and the incumbent takes full charge of the office.

The general opinion of all those present was that the Home Defense Police is a splendid organization, and one that can be made a power for the carrying out of the various war measures ordered by the government, particularly as they referred to the food and fuel administration, and other conservative measures directed by the authorities.

HOME DEFENSE POLICE

Members of the Charleroi Home Defense Police will meet at the Pennsylvania Railroad station Friday evening August 23, at 7:15 o'clock, in full uniform, including blouse, to march to Lock No. Four, where the usual weekly drill will take place. Every member of the Company is expected to be on line. By order of W. D. Pollock, Captain

Fayette County Expects To See Great Increase in Coal and Coke Output

INVESTIGATING LIQUOR FEATURE

Although figures for last week's production in the coke region show a materially little change from the previous week, all sources of information presage a substantial increase for the week now in progress, if indeed it is not a banner period. Improved weather conditions, together with a loosening up in the car supply has brought the Connellsville region up to its former war-time pace and the workers are out for a new record.

One hundred per cent coal cars were placed by the Pennsylvania railroad company on Wednesday for the first time in weeks. That placing will not be maintained indefinitely, but the week will strike an average of about 80 per cent, which, when compared with the supply of the last two or three weeks is a vast improvement.

Last week's coal shortage of 1,786 cars cut deeply into the shipment of raw coal, the figures being 190,034 tons against 199,957 tons the previous week. The coke output showed a slight improvement, the production being 324,031 tons compared with 316,581 tons of the preceding week.

Although there were two foreign holidays and the semi-monthly days were distributed, production certainly noticed less tonnage lost because of labor shortage than on previous weeks. That is accounted for by reason of the labor supervising plan and the other measures taken to enlist the workers in the movement for increased production. One by one the fuel administration is going after those factors which detract the minds of the men from their work and gradually these are being eliminated.

The liquor problem and its effect upon efficiency of the men is now being investigated by the production department of the regional administration. These officials say reports have come in to the effect that since the increased taxes on liquor there has been hundreds of gallons of cheap wines shipped into the region, all of which is not sold at regularly licensed places. Reports are to the effect that coke workers secure those cheap wines for a flavor and mixing them with various concoctions create a "kick" sufficient to cause a "holdover" of from one to two days. A rigid investigation in that phase of the liquor problem is now well under way by the fuel administration.

WANTED—Rooms or room and board for a number of young ladies from the best families in Washington, Greene and Fayette Counties. Some would be willing to help with the work morning and evenings. Please leave name and address at Douglas Business College. Bell Phone 532J.

STILL GOING STRONG

Reports from the western front indicate that Gen. Foch, having taken the initiative, is holding it in a masterful manner, and is giving the Hun no peace. While great drives are not being made at this time, the Allied armies are making progress just the same. Gen. Foch evidently has the strength to retain the initiative from now on, and with American troops constantly pouring into France he has no fear of his reserves.

During the past month conditions have materially changed in northwest France. Up to July 15 it was a question as to where the Germans would strike and it kept the Allies guessing continually and not always with success. Now the conditions have changed. The Allies have taken the offensive and the Germans are doing the guessing. And reports indicate they are not as good at this game as the allied commanders. Foch is handling his forces with dexterity, and while he hands the Boches a jolt on the jaw in Flanders he is ready to counter a thrust in the Rheims sector. Like the boxer he is giving the German a whole lot more than he can take care of, and the Hun is growing somewhat groggy from the repeated jolts and jabs that are being rained upon his anatomy. It may be that a solar plexus may be landed even this fall, but it is not expected. However, the German is kept so busy "covering up" that he has but little time to arrange his forces in formidable array before another punch disarranges all his plans. The Allies have the offensive, which means the beginning of the end for the Kaiser and his crew.

HUN HYDROPHOBIA

Nobody but a German can understand German policies and the capacity is apt to be lost even by the German born who have lived long enough among sane people in a free country. Perhaps nobody is more amazed and outraged by the U-boat attacks in American waters than loyal citizens of German extraction. If the U-boats could check our transport of soldiers to France or otherwise seriously damage our shipping, it would be possible to respect the effort even while condemning the means; but the exploits of the few submarines Germany is able to send against us suggest mere flea bites that foolishly annoy and irritate a tiger capable of furious resentment and deadly rage.

What can the Germans expect to gain by their puny and ineffectual submarine efforts in our waters? What will it profit them to sink a few fishing boats and lightships or to send a floating raft of poisonous gas into an undefended minor port? Have they not intelligence enough to know that all they are accomplishing is to steel the heart of the great American nation against them and to strengthen its determination to make them beg for peace upon their knees? The infamous gas attack at the mouth of the Cape Fear River in North Carolina is typical of the facility and insatiable of their performances; for, while none of the affected coast guard men will die and only a few chickens succumbed, a mighty nation has been made only the more formidable in its righteous indignation.

"KAMERAD"

German machine gunners are having impressed upon them the fact that the "Kamerad" stuff will not go with the American soldier unless it is genuine. It has been a favorite pastime with one German soldier to keep on firing as long as he thought he was safe, and then when his opponents were getting the better of the argument, to throw up his hands and yell "Kamerad." Many instances have been reported where the Germans have used this cry as a subterfuge, and when soldiers of the allied armies have been about to take them prisoner to use a hand grenade or a knife or even their gun, to the destruction of their opponents.

The soldiers of the Allied armies are now "wise" to all this stuff. And this is particularly true of the American soldier. He has had considerable experience in cleaning out machine gun nests, and in some few instances has seen the Germans work these death-dealing instruments to the last minute, working great executions, and then when he is about to be shot or run through with the bayonet to throw up his hands and yell "Kamerad."

From now on it just depends on circumstances whether the American soldiers will listen to this appeal. The American will give him a fair show and give him all consideration on due, but no cowardly "surrender will go—any suspicion of treachery and it is all off with the Hun. The American soldier does not want that kind of a prisoner.

BATTLE OF THE SUBSTITUTES

The loaf of bread which patriotism and the regulations of the Food Administration combine to make the bakers of America sell at this time, says The Bakers' Helper, is a substitute for the wheat bread of peace time; it is a loaf made to meet war necessities; and in his advertising every baker should recognize this fact. Most enterprising bakers have done so.

Today bakers can ask the public to buy the loaves upon patriotic grounds. This patriotic argument completely upsets the old-time commercial considerations. Previous to the war only two persons were involved in a transaction between the baker and the public. When the baker sold a loaf of bread and the customer was satisfied with it, the transaction was completed. Today there is a third party involved in every such transaction—the third party being the Nation as a whole. Other things being equal, the public is going to patronize the baker who convinces it that his product is helping to conserve the Nation's supply of wheat. In advertising, therefore, the baker should bear in mind this fact, that what he says concerning his bread appeals to the three parties described—the Nation, his trade, and himself.

NO GERMAN-MADE PEACE

The success which has been attending the campaigns of the allied armies during the past month naturally brings up the question as to when the war will be over and the terms of peace. Experts say the war will end in another year—we hope so. Then there are those who say the Germans will launch a great peace offensive this winter, with a view of getting the best of terms in the settlement. They want their colonies back, and offer to evacuate Belgium if assured this will be done. There are other features in connection with the proposals of peace which Germany would like to have, but they should be denied. The peace terms should be dictated by the allied nations. Germany should have no say in what they shall be; she should be compelled to surrender without conditions, after her army has been decisively beaten, and then her boasted army and navy should be destroyed as an institution. The world cannot afford to have such menaces confronting them every day in the future. The time to settle this question and settle it right, is the present; and it should be settled according to allied terms.

THE NEXT CONGRESS

When you find a man like Claude Kitchin, of Scotland Neck, N. C., in control of the great Ways and Means committee, and trying to run the revenue policies of the country; and when you find a man like Representative Dent, of Alabama, chairman of the Military Committee, and opposing the war policies of the government, what is your thought as a citizen voter? asks the Philadelphia Inquirer. Ours is that if the Republicans could carry the next House and provide the committees with able chairmen the prosecution of the war would move along smoother and the affairs of the nation be far better handled.

GAVE SUPPLIES TO THE SOLDIERS

Paris, Aug. 17.—"The finest carload of supplies that ever came up to me—well I had to abandon it," said Karl Cate, Y. M. C. A. secretary when he arrived in Paris the other day, dusty, worn, staggering from exertions and lack of sleep.

"Our station was close to the front, and we were directly in the path of the German advance. I just got my car unloaded when word came that we had to beat it. That car was loaded with American cookies and chocolate and cigarettes and writing paper and chewing gum and cigars. I had a canon and started to load with the idea of getting on board as many supplies as possible and saving them. I piled on just one box, and then it struck me that the Y. M. C. A. would look pretty rotten totting a canon load of supplies back from the front when the roads were full of refugees, and there were wounded soldiers coming back in numbers. So I chucked off the box."

He did chuck off the box and put in its place five wounded soldiers whom he picked up along the road. Every other available inch of space on his canon he jammed with women and children refugees from the invaded territory and set out for the rear.

"As I left I yelled to the American soldiers, 'There's a carload of stuff. Go to it. Help yourselves! And believe me, they did.'

Cate reached Paris with his canon two days later. He had driven constantly except for brief intervals of sleep taken in the ditch by the roadside.

"Get to bed," he was ordered when he appeared in headquarters, but there was to be no bed for Cate. "I'm going back. Have my canon loaded with what the soldiers will need most while I eat, and then I start."

So, after a hasty meal, without a bath, without even a chance to dust and refresh himself he started back to his job to carry what comforts he could to his section of American soldiers in the battle line.

SINGING WITH FOUR-MINUTE-MEN

An innovation is promised for the coming fall. The one-minute sing will be allied with the four-minute speech in rallying the people of Pennsylvania to the support of all war programs and activities. Community singing has proved its value in creating patriotic "atmosphere" and the speaker who addresses audiences which have been stirred by war songs finds them more receptive to his appeal.

The Pennsylvania Council of National Defense, which has been directing organized patriotic speaking in support of the Government has arranged to conduct patriotic singing on the same State-wide basis and to couple the singing with the speaking. When the new plan is put into operation there will be no sings without Liberty talks nor will there be patriotic speaking without singing. Arrangements are under way to merge organized singing, which has been conducted by independent associations, with the organized speaking and singing directed by the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense.

Mrs. A. L. Hawkins, of Washington on Wednesday received word that her son Lieutenant Colonel Frank B. Hawkins, has been promoted on August 18 to Colonel. Col. Hawkins has been acting commander of the 353rd Infantry, which he will now command. He has been in France for some time. His brother, Col. Clyde Hawkins, is commander of the 352nd Regiment, and is also in France with the American Expeditionary Forces. Both are sons of the late Col. A. L. Hawkins, a Washington county resident, who formerly lived in the Beallsville district. For twenty years he was commander of the Tenth Pennsylvania. N. G. CLEAN-UP IS MADE IN SMITH TOWNSHIP

In criminal court at Washington on Thursday the last of the people arrested in connection with the violation of the Liquor laws were disposed of, all of them having admitted their guilt. All were fined $500 and costs, which were paid, and in all cases the defendants paroled from a jail or workhouse sentence. Moral conditions in Smith township have been greatly improved since the district attorney and county officers made the clean-up, and all the other violators who have not been apprehended are keeping under cover.

SKILLED LABOR SHORTAGE IMPERLS WAR WORK

The fact that there now is a shortage in war work of 1,000,000 unskilled laborers and that the reserve of skilled workers is exhausted developed on Thursday at a conference of field agents of the Federal Employment Bureau in Washington. Further curbing of non-essential production is planned to release men for war work.

Tortilla Legends.

A current belief in Mexico was that if persons ate green corn at night they would suffer from toothache. In order to prevent this evil it was customary to warm the ears of corn before eating them after dark. If a corn cake or tortilla doubled over when thrown upon the floor or clay pag to bake, it was considered a sure sign that someone was coming towards the house. If her husband happened to be out, the woman to whom this happened while cooking believed it to be a sign that he was on his way home, and said, "It was he who had kicked the tortilla and made it double up."

WOMEN PLAN HEAVY WORK IN BIG LOAN DRIVE

Cleveland, O.—The women of the fourth federal district have an active campaign organized for their part in the drive for the third issue of Liberty Bonds the women's Liberty Loan committee of the country reported that their sales amounted to 25 per cent of the total. In the fourth district they reached 24 per cent. The women of this section of the country are determined that in this fourth campaign they are going to come up to the national average or go ahead of it.

Mrs. Frank Muhlbauer, district chairman, sees two tasks in particular which belong to the women loan workers.

MRS. FRANK MUHLBAUER.

"They have always been the purchasers of the country," she explained. "They do the buying—spend the money. Now in that role they must see to it that money is spent only for essentials. There is not enough raw material and labor in the country to give the government all that it needs and the people all that they may want in the way of non-essentials. There is enough to give both the government and the public what they need. It is the part of women to see that the labor and the material go only for those necessities. It is woman's job to make the people realize that it doesn't matter whether or not we put our hands into empty pockets, so long as the soldiers don't put their hands into empty cartridge boxes.

"The other responsibility for women in this next campaign is to increase the number of bond holders from 18,000,000 to 25,000,000. The number must be increased by reaching the small investors, and they are the ones for the women to look after."

TRANSFORMATION

Saving! Thrift! Economy!
I once thought you were mean.
Petty virtue at the best.
Which made life dull and lean.
Dun-colored, hard, monotonous,
Selfish at the heart.
Taking all in all, you played
An unattractive part.

But now! The gray cocoon is burst;
You stand forth, radiant-hued.
The steel of your sword is sharp and bright
And a warrior's is your mood
Dramatic, sacrificial, brave;
The virtues of a knight!
Why, without you, one-time
grievous thing,
We couldn't start to fight!
—Lucy Price.

Don't Despise Plodder.

The plodder is the fellow who gets there and knows how it happened. Meteorlike sons of fortune dazzle the world as they flash into fame, but often they spend a long time in rather inglorious commonplace before their eulogies are written. The world is hero-crazy, but it bitterly resents being imposed upon. It worships genius but it's often badly fooled in the appearance of it. Self-advised virtues are apt to grow stale before they are fully credited. "Right off the bat stuff" is often more spectacular than substantial. The plodder never betrays the world's confidence. He never wins applause, for his methods never appeal to the grandstand. You would never turn to him for holiday glory, but he's the fellow you want when you get into trouble. That's the time the real man counts.—Exchange.

King Keen Business Man.

The western world is inclined to remember Philip of Spain as the originator of Belgian atrocities and the patron of inquisitions, but a recent document issued by the state department of Mexico shows him to have been a long-headed business man, a medieval Rockefeller. Philip, it seems, was several hundred years in advance of the Rockefeller interests and the syndicate of British speculators in sensing the value of Mexican oil lands. In the charters he issued to companies of settlers and adventurers, he granted the right to exploit the surface of the lands—the right to fell trees and raise crops—but kept to himself the ownership of the oil and all other wealth hidden in the ground.

MACCABEES TO HOLD CORN ROAST

At a regular meeting of the Lady Maccabees, held Thursday evening, it was decided to hold a corn roast at Oakland Park, Wednesday, August 28, in honor of a former member, Mrs. Tomlinson, now a member of Betsy Ross Revue, of Philadelphia, who is at present visiting with friends in Charleroi. Every Lady Maccabee is expected to be present at this outing.

The Victory Contest is now under way, with 28 new members and more to be added at each meeting. The Captain of the Army side is Joanna Schwaer, and of the Navy, Mary Dailley. The losers in the contest will entertain the winners some time in December. The purpose of the contest is to secure new members, and to do Red Cross work in the lodge room, as well as to assist the local Chapter. All Revenues in the United States have organized for the war, and to assist in all ways they can in winning the ultimate victory.

Grace: You can't cover blackheads, pimples, red spots on the face with powder, they're bound to be seen. Why worry and spoil your temper? Take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—twice daily banish them thru the blood—the only sure way. 35c. Tea or Tablets. Hennings Drug Store.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2342 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.
